

solemnization of marriage, property and civil rights; the administration of justice, except the power of appointing judicial officers, the expenditure of territorial funds and such portion of any moneys voted by the Dominion Parliament for the Territories, as the Lieutenant-Governor is, with the advice of the Assembly, authorized to spend, and generally all matters of a local or private nature in the Territories. The Assembly, however, is not to have any greater powers than are conferred upon the provinces by the B. N. A. Act.

Sessional indemnity in the several provinces.

97. The principle of paying members for their services is recognized throughout the country, and the allowances in the several provinces are as follow, Speaker's salaries in all cases being in addition to their sessional allowances. In Ontario, the Speaker receives $1,250 and the members $600; if the session is less than 30 days, each member receives at the rate of $6 per day. In Quebec, the Speaker of each House gets $2,000, and the members of each House $800 and mileage. In Nova Scotia, the members of the Legislative Council receive $500, the Speaker of the Assembly $800, and the members $500 and mileage. In New Brunswick, the Speaker receives $400 and the members $300 and mileage. In Manitoba, the Speaker receives $1,000 and the members $600 and mileage. In British Columbia, the Speaker's salary is $1,000 and the members' indemnity $600. In Prince Edward Island (in 1892), the Speaker of the Legislative Council received $400 and the members $160 with travelling expenses, and the Speaker of the Assembly received $400 (inclusive of indemnity) and the members $160 and travelling expenses. In the North-west Territories, the Speaker and members each receive $500 and travelling expenses. The sessional allowance is in each case subject to deductions for non-attendance, varying from $4 to $8 a day. Mileage allowance generally consists of ten cents per mile each way. In addition to the above, members have privileges of postage and stationery which vary in value in the different provinces.

Voters at provincial elections.

98. The qualification for voters at elections for the Provincial Assemblies are determined by the several Legislatures, and vary accordingly. In the North-west Territories they are determined by the Dominion Parliament. (See ante par. 82.)

Naturalization.

99. Any person, an alien, who has resided for three years in this country, can, after taking the oath of residence and allegiance before a judge, commissioner or magistrate, and having the same registered, obtain a certificate of naturalization, and become entitled to the privileges of a British subject. An alien woman when married to a British subject becomes thereby a naturalized British subject.

Governors General and Governors,

100. The following is a complete list of all the Governors-General and Governors of the several Provinces previous to their entering into the Confederation, together with the years of office.
