sight falling off to 15.76 p.c. in 1931. The Baptists have shown a fairly steady decline from 6.87 p.c. in 1871 to 4.27 p.c. in 1931.

The immigration from non-English-speaking countries during the first three decades of the twentieth century has led to a great growth of the religious bodies whose members come from the continent of Europe. Thus the Lutherans, who were only 1.09 p.c. of the population in 1871 and 1.72 p.c. in 1901, have risen to 3.80 p.c. in 1931. The Jews again, who were only 0.03 p.c. in 1871 and 0.31 p.c. in 1901, were 1.50 p.c. in 1931. The adherents of the Greek Orthodox Church, who in earlier years were not distinguished from Greek Catholics (the two together being only 0.29 p.c. in 1901) were 0.99 p.c. in 1931.

Of the total population in 1931 (10,376,786), 16,042 or 0.15 p.c. did not state their religion while 54,164 or 0.52 p.c., persons belonging to small sects, were classed as "various" and 21,071 or 0.20 p.c. as "no religion". Of the non-Christian sects, 155,614 or 1.50 p.c. were Jews, 24,087 or 0.23 p.c. were Confucians, 15,784 or 0.15 p.c. were Buddhists and 5,008 or 0.05 p.c. were pagans. The figures in the following tables are revised and final. In Table 20 the totals for each religion are brought together for all censuses since Confederation; Table 21 gives the same information as Table 20 in the form of percentages to total populations for the census years; Table 22 gives the 1931 census figures of the numbers of persons accredited to each of 31 specified religions, by provinces.
