

54,489, or a net balance in favour of Canada of 22,352. For our fiscal year ended Mar. 31, 1932, the record is as follows: Emigrants to U.S. (U.S. figure of immigrants), 8,422; immigrants from U.S., 14,297; returning Canadians, 19,411. There was thus a net inward movement of 25,236.

In Table 19 will be found the number of transoceanic passengers entering Canada during the fiscal year ended Mar. 31, 1932, by description and classes, together with totals by classes for the years 1926 to 1931. It will be seen that the fiscal year ended 1930 showed the largest number of transoceanic passengers and the 1932 figures are lower than for any other year of the record.

19.—Returning Canadians and Other Non-Immigrants Entering Canada via Ocean Ports, by Class of Travel, fiscal year ended Mar. 31, 1932, with Totals for fiscal years 1926-31.

NOTE.—Figures in this table cover transoceanic passengers only. Details for 1926 to 1931 will be found in previous editions of the Year Book.

Colonization Activities.—Contemporaneously with the sharp reduction in immigration disclosed by preceding tables, due to the policy of limiting immigration in accordance with the requirements of the country, a new and important development has occurred in the form of colonization activities within Canada. It was found that there were in the cities of the Dominion many families and individuals with farm experience who had been attracted to industrial centres in more prosperous times and would now regard with favour the opportunity of an assured subsistence on the land. In many cases families were still in possession of some capital but were in fear of its gradual depletion through unemployment. It was believed that many such families and individuals would return to the land without financial
