

CHAPTER XVII.—INTERNAL TRADE

CONSPECTUS

	PAGE		PAGE
Part I.—The Movement and Marketing of Commodities.....	479	Subsection 2. Co-operative Credit Unions.....	514
SECTION 1. INTERPROVINCIAL TRADE...	479	Subsection 3. Agricultural Co-operation.....	516
SECTION 2. THE GRAIN TRADE.....	481	Part II.—Government Aids to and Control of Trade.....	522
Subsection 1. Governmental Agencies Regulating or Co-operating with the Grain Trade.....	481	SECTION 1. COMBINATIONS IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE.....	522
Subsection 2. Movement of Canadian Wheat, Crop Year 1939-40.....	483	SECTION 2. PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS AND TRADE MARKS.....	524
Subsection 3. Distribution, Storage and Inspection of Principal Canadian Field Crops.....	485	SECTION 3. WEIGHTS AND MEASURES..	527
SECTION 3. MARKETING OF LIVE STOCK AND LIVE-STOCK PRODUCTS.....	490	SECTION 4. ELECTRICITY AND GAS INSPECTION.....	528
SECTION 4. COLD STORAGE.....	497	SECTION 5. BOUNTIES.....	530
SECTION 5. MERCHANDISING AND SERVICE ESTABLISHMENTS.....	499	SECTION 6. CONTROL AND SALE OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES.....	530
Subsection 1. Wholesale Merchandising.....	499	Part III.—Commercial Failures.....	533
Subsection 2. Retail Trade and Service Establishments.....	502	SECTION 1. INDUSTRIAL AND COMMERCIAL FAILURES FROM PRIVATE SOURCES.....	534
SECTION 6. THE CO-OPERATIVE MOVEMENT IN CANADA	513	SECTION 2. COMMERCIAL FAILURES FROM ADMINISTRATIONS UNDER DOMINION LEGISLATION.....	537
Subsection 1. Consumers' Co-operation.....	513	SECTION 3. ADMINISTRATION OF BANKRUPT ESTATES.....	539

The diverse resources of the various parts of the country have led to a vast exchange of products and the task of providing goods and services where they are required for consumption or use by a population of 11,422,000 accounts for a greater expenditure of economic effort than that required for the prosecution of Canada's great volume of external trade, high though the Dominion ranks among the countries of the world in this field.

Internal trade is broad and complicated: it encompasses all values added to commodities traded in provincially and interprovincially by agencies and services connected with the storage, distribution, and sale of goods, such as railways, steamships, warehouses, wholesale and retail stores, financial institutions, etc. Taken in a wide sense it embraces various professional and personal services including those directed to the amusement of the people, such as theatres, sports, etc. In fact, in a broad interpretation, internal trade covers a large part of those activities of the people that add to the 'form' utilities, dealt with in the various preceding chapters, the utilities of 'place', 'time', and 'possession', and the personal and professional services referred to in the Survey of Production and other chapters. However, the arrangement of material in a volume such as the Year Book is governed by the necessity of interpretation from various angles and cross reference to other chapters is essential. The Index will be found useful in this respect.