

Daily Newspapers.—Daily newspapers are published in Canada in three main language groups: English-language, French-language and foreign-languages. French daily newspapers have, as would be expected, a wide circulation in the Province of Quebec and some of the largest of these papers have been established in the Province for over 60 years. Ten of the 11 French-language newspapers are published in that Province, the other being in the adjoining Province of Ontario. Over 93 p.c. of the total circulation of the English and French dailies is in the urban centres of 20,000 population or over.

Weekly Newspapers.*—The weekly newspapers have a somewhat wider circulation; only 61 p.c. of the stated circulation of weekly English-language newspapers (exclusive of the 'controlled' distribution given in Table 5), is in cities of 20,000 population or over and about 80 p.c. of the French-language weeklies. Canada is well served by foreign-language weekly newspapers. In 1948, they had a stated circulation of 204,143 copies among which Ukrainian papers had a circulation of 70,401 copies, German 37,874, Yiddish 28,262 and Polish 16,425 copies.

Other Publications and Periodicals.—Table 7 gives the number of publications, other than newspapers, published in Canada. Monthly and weekly magazines and periodicals enjoy the largest circulation while those dealing with home, social and welfare, and agricultural and rural topics, religious, trade, industry and related publications are the most popular types.

* Including a very few semi- and tri-weekly newspapers.
