Subsection 2.—Young Adult Offenders (16-24 Years)

Young men and women from 16 to 24 years of age each year form about 40 p.c. of the criminal population who commit indictable offences but they comprise less than 20 p.c. of the total population 16 years of age or over. As this age group includes some of the most daring offenders who may be already experienced criminals as well as first offenders likely to be turned from crime by further education and training, it seems worth while to give consideration to offenders in this group as distinct from offenders in the older age groups.

Of the young offenders in 1953, 71·2 p.c. were tried in three provinces—Ontario 37·4 p.c., Quebec 21·9 p.c., and British Columbia 11·9 p.c.; 44·9 p.c. of them were still under 20 years of age.
