

In 1957, the general office and clerical personnel made up 61.2 p.c. of all salaried employees, 48.1 p.c. of the men and 94.9 p.c. of the women. The office workers averaged $67.98 for both sexes, $81.08 for men and $50.80 for women in the 1957 survey week, as compared with salaried employees' general averages of $89.92 for both sexes, $104.63 for men, and $51.84 for women. The wide differential between earnings of salaried men as a whole and of male office workers is a result of the exclusion from the latter category of managerial, supervisory, professional and other senior personnel who are usually paid well above the average.
