It was estimated that at the end of March 1958 more than 86 p.c. of all Canadians were within reach of the national television system. Microwave facilities linking television stations from coast to coast for instantaneous telecasting of programs went into full operation July 1, 1958. When television broadcasting began in September 1952, 146,000 television sets were in use in Canada. One year later the number had tripled and by March 1958 more than 3,000,000 receivers were in use in Canadian homes.

Canadian Broadcasting Corporation Service.—The Corporation's Head Office is located at Ottawa and provides over-all direction for the English and French language television and radio services through the CBC's seven operations divisions: British Columbia; Prairies; Ontario and English networks; Quebec and French networks; Maritimes; Newfoundland; and the International Service. To give expression to varying interests across Canada, the CBC maintains offices and production facilities at St. John's, Nfld., Sydney and Halifax, N.S., Moncton, N.B., Chicoutimi, Quebec and Montreal, Que., Ottawa, Toronto and Windsor, Ont., Winnipeg, Man., Regina, Sask., Edmonton, Alta., and Vancouver and Prince Rupert, B.C.
