PART II.—CULTURAL ACTIVITIES RELATED TO EDUCATION

Section 1.—The Arts and Education*

Fine Art Schools, Galleries and Organizations.—Fine art (architecture, painting and drawing, commercial and decorative arts, graphics, ceramics and sculpture) appears as an elective subject of the faculty of arts in a number of universities, where it may be taken as one of five, six or more subjects for a year or two. In Mount Allison University, McGill University, Sir George Williams University, Queen's University, McMaster University, Assumption University and the Universities of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, there is a sufficient number of courses to allow the taking of a Bachelor degree with specialization in fine art. At the University of Toronto an Honour Bachelor degree in art history and archaeology is offered, and a Master degree in architecture may be obtained at McGill University and at the Universities of Toronto, Manitoba and British Columbia.

There are many schools of art not requiring any fixed academic standing for admission, as they are more concerned with the technical development of the artist. The most widely known of these are:—

Nova Scotia College of Art, Halifax, N.S.

École des Beaux-Arts, Quebec, Que.

École des Beaux-Arts, Montreal, Que.

School of Art and Design, Montreal Museum of Fine Arts, Montreal, Que.

Ontario College of Art, Toronto, Ont.

University of Manitoba School of Fine Arts, Winnipeg, Man.

School of Art, Regina College, Regina, Sask.

Provincial Institute of Technology and Art, Banff School of Fine Arts, Banff, Alta.

(affiliated with the University of Alberta, Edmonton)

Vancouver School of Art, Vancouver, B.C.

Courses in these schools vary in length with the requirements of the individual student but may extend over as many as four years. Summer schools of art are sponsored by some of the foregoing institutions, by universities, and by various independent groups; such courses are listed in Some Summer Courses in the Arts in Canada published by the Canadian Cultural Information Centre.*
