¹ Figures for years up to and including 1949 are as at Dec. 31; figures from 1951 are as at Jan. 1. ² Newfoundland included from 1949. ² Adjustment in coverage resulted in a net addition of approximately 23,000 members. ⁴ Includes an addition of approximately 7,000 members resulting from improved coverage.

Almost three quarters of all union members in Canada were in organizations affiliated with the Canadian Labour Congress (CLC); in most cases these unions were also affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations. Another 9.4 p.c. of the total union membership in 1965 was affiliated with the Confederation of National Trade Unions (CNTU). Unaffiliated international and national unions accounted for 12 p.c., while 3 p.c. was in independent local organizations.

The 1965 union membership in Canada was higher by almost 96,000 than the previous year, a net gain of 6.4 p.c., and the highest percentage increase in any year since 1956. Among international unions operating in Canada, the largest increase was reported by the United Automobile and Aerospace and Agricultural Implement Workers of America, with
