PART I.—OFFICIAL SOURCES OF INFORMATION

Section 1.—Books About Canada

This basic list of books about Canada, contributed by the National Library (February 1967), includes a selection of publications grouped alphabetically by author and arranged under the subject classifications of Biography, Country and People, Economics, External Relations, Government and Politics, History, Literature and the Arts, and General Reference Works. The selection represents many aspects of Canadian life, emphasizes the latest editions of books published within the past ten years, and includes titles issued in either or both English and French, accompanied by the publisher's address.

It should be noted that, although this list is now an annual feature of the Year Book, it is not a cumulative presentation; it is limited to about 480 titles, necessitating the omission of some items that appeared the preceding year to permit the inclusion of others. For additional titles, the reader should consult the lists of books in earlier Year Books or one or more of the bibliographical collections listed below under the heading "General Reference Works", particularly the monthly or annual editions of Canadiana published by the National Library.
