Section 3.—Provincial and Territorial Fur Resource Management*

Most of the fur resources of the provinces and territories of Canada are under the administration of their respective governments. Exceptions include those resources within the boundaries of the National Parks and the Indian reserves, which are under the administration of the Federal Government. The Canadian Wildlife Service of the Department of Indian Affairs and Northern Development is responsible for all Federal Government interests in wildlife resources except for those related to Indian affairs, which are administered by the Indian Affairs Branch of the same Department. The Canadian Wildlife Service co-operates with provincial governments and other agencies concerned and handles federal interests in relevant national and international problems (see pp. 46-47). Provincial fur resource management practices are discussed in the following paragraphs.

* Prepared by the respective provincial and federal departments responsible for fur resource management.
