

Subsection 2.—Provincial Shipments Changes

The value of shipments of goods of own manufacture includes the effects of price changes but nevertheless affords an interesting basis for comparing the relative expansion of different areas of Canada. In Table 9, annual shipments are shown for selected years in the 1961-67 period; 1966 and 1967 figures are based on the monthly survey and are preliminary.

Subsection 3.—Changes in Exports of Manufactured Goods

Exports of manufactured goods in 1965 were apparently equal to about 16 p.c. of the value of shipments of goods of own manufacture by the manufacturing industries in that year. The proportion in 1966 was 18 p.c., using preliminary estimates of total manufacturers' shipments. Manufacturers do not regularly report shipments on the basis of their destination but it is believed that the domestic exports of fabricated materials and of end products together approximate total exports of Canadian manufactures. Exports of end products approximate exports of finished manufactured goods, although the classification includes a very small amount of non-manufactured goods. The following statement shows exports of fabricated materials and end products compared with total shipments of manufacturers in 1961 and 1964-66 (some figures do not add due to rounding):—

Item	1961	1964	1965	1966
