Ontario

3.3.1.6

The government of Ontario consists of a lieutenant-governor, an executive council and a Legislative Assembly. In April 1974 the Honourable Pauline McGibbon took office as lieutenant-governor. The Legislative Assembly is composed of 125 members elected for a statutory term not to exceed five years. At the provincial election June 9, 1977, 58 Progressive Conservatives, 34 Liberals and 33 New Democrats were elected to the province's 31st Legislature.

In addition to the regular ministries are the following provincial agencies: the Niagara Parks Commission, the Ontario Municipal Board, Ontario Hydro, the St. Lawrence Development Commission, the Ontario Northland Transportation Commission, the Liquor Control Board and the Liquor Licence Board.

Under the provisions of the Legislative Assembly Act (RSO 1970, c.240 as amended) each member of the assembly is paid an annual indemnity of $15,000 and an expense allowance of $7,500. In addition, the speaker receives a special annual indemnity of $9,000, the chairman of the committee of the whole house $5,000 and the leader of the opposition a salary of $18,000. Each member of the cabinet having charge of a ministry receives the ordinary indemnity as a member of the legislature in addition to his salary as a minister of the Crown. The salary provided in the Executive Council Act for the premier is $25,000 and for a cabinet minister having charge of a ministry $18,000. The leader of the opposition receives a representation allowance of $3,000 per annum. Each minister without portfolio receives an annual salary of $7,500.
