

PERCENTAGE OF POPULATION
AGED 15-64 YEARS WITH
UNIVERSITY DEGREES, 1986

People with university degrees in 1986 tended to live near Canada's major urban areas. The Census Metropolitan Area with the highest percentage of university degree graduates was Ottawa-Hull, with 19% of people aged 15-64 holding university degrees.

The province with the lowest percentage of people with university degrees was Newfoundland, with 6%, while the highest was Ontario, with 12%.

In 1986, 10% of people in Canada aged 15-64 had a university degree; this compares with a Canadian average of only 3% in 1961.