In addition, a number of defence matters of concern to both Canada and the United States are considered by the Permanent Joint Board on Defence, which provides advice on such matters to the respective governments.

3.7.2 The command structure of the Canadian Forces

The Canadian Forces are organized on a functional basis to reflect the major commitments assigned by the government. All forces devoted to a primary mission are grouped under a single commander who is assigned sufficient resources to discharge his responsibilities. Specifically, the Canadian Forces are formed into National Defence Headquarters and seven major Commands reporting to the Chief of the Defence Staff.

Mobile Command. The role of Mobile Command is: to provide military units, including tactical air support, suitably trained and equipped, for the protection of Canadian territory; to maintain operational readiness of combat formations in Canada required for overseas commitments; and to support United Nations or other peacekeeping operations.

The forces assigned include: three airportable combat groups in Canada; the Canadian Airborne Regiment; the Canadian Contingent of the United Nations Force in Cyprus; Canadian Contingent of the United Nations Middle East; two tactical fighter squadrons; four tactical helicopter squadrons and one helicopter operational training squadron; one transport helicopter squadron; and one combat training centre.

The Militia and Air Reserve components are also controlled and administered by Mobile Command.

The Militia. The Militia is assigned its traditional role as a sub-component in support of the Regular Force. Under the present organization, units of the Militia have been placed under either the Commander, Mobile Command or Canadian Forces Communication Command.

Mobile Command exercises command and control of 121 Militia combat and service units through five Militia Area Headquarters and 21 Militia Districts in the following centres: Esquimalt, Vancouver and Victoria; Edmonton, Southern Alberta, Saskatchewan and Winnipeg; Hamilton, London, North Bay, Ottawa, Toronto and Windsor; Montreal and Quebec; and West Nova Scotia, Cape Breton, West New Brunswick, East New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland. Mobile Command Militia is charged with: providing trained individuals for augmentation and reinforcement of the Regular Force; providing trained sub-units to support the field force for the defence of Canada and the maintenance of internal security; providing trained personnel for the augmentation of the civil emergency operations organization; and forming the base on which the Regular Force could be expanded in the event of an emergency.

The 12 Canadian Forces Communication Command Militia Units are commanded and controlled through the five Regular Force Communication Groups and are centred in: Vancouver, Edmonton and Calgary; Regina and Winnipeg; Toronto and Ottawa; Montreal and Quebec; and Saint John, Halifax and Charlottetown. Their tasks collectively include: the augmentation of Canadian Forces Communication Command in an emergency; the provision of communications support to Mobile Command Militia in emergency operations (peace); the provision of instructors for the training of Mobile Command unit signalers; and the provision of communications support for control of Mobile Command Militia tactical exercises.

Air Reserves. The Air Reserve is organized into four Air Reserve Wing Headquarters at Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, and Edmonton and six flying squadrons of six DHC Otter aircraft each. Air Reserve Squadrons are located at Montreal (two), Toronto (two), Winnipeg (one) and Edmonton (one). The Air Reserve is required to provide light tactical air transport support to the Regular Force and in particular to Mobile Command ground forces. Air Reserve tasks include logistic airlift, air evacuation of patients, aerial surveillance and photography, and communications and liaison.

Maritime Command. All Canadian Maritime Forces, both sea and air, are under the command of the Commander, Maritime Command whose Headquarters is in Halifax. The Deputy Commander is the Commander, Maritime Forces Pacific with Headquarters in Esquimalt. The
