

such as fresh fruits and vegetables and raw sugar; fabricated materials include commercial feed stocks and commodities that are further processed rather than used for direct consumption; end products comprise prepared pet feeds and commodities that require no further processing but are used directly for consumption, such as cheese, canned foods, whisky, cigars and cigarettes. Sections 3 and 4 are defined in the SCC. Section 5 (Inedible end products) consists of articles rather than materials, i.e. finished commodities that have attained their final degree of processing together with specific parts and accessories of machinery that are classified with the machinery. Section 6 (Special transactions — trade), which contains comparatively few classes, is distributed on the basis of special studies.
