

grande partie se trouvait entre des mains étrangères, le principal de la dette consolidée du Dominion payable à Londres au 31 mars 1914 atteignant $302,842,485, contre $717,453 payables au Canada.

La complète transformation de notre dette nationale au cours de 27 années, 1914-41, se caractérise ainsi: (1) augmentation énorme, la dette nette étant passée de $335,996,850 à $3,648,691,449; (2) l'argent emprunté ayant servi à couvrir les dépenses de guerre n'est représenté par aucun actif correspondant; (3) la dette actuellement détenue en majeure partie au Canada, une somme de $3,727,769,073 étant remboursable au Canada le 31 mars 1941.
