Sous-section 2.—Caisses d'épargne publiques et autres

Le Canada compte trois genres distincts de caisses d'épargne, outre les divisions d'épargne des banques à charte et des compagnies de prêt et de fiducie: 1° la Caisse d'épargne postale, dont les dépôts représentent une charge directe pour le gouvernement fédéral; 2° les caisses d'épargne des gouvernements de Terre-Neuve, de l'Ontario et de l'Alberta, où les déposants deviennent créanciers directs de la province; 3° deux importantes banques d'épargne au Québec, la Banque d'Épargne de la Cité et du District de Montréal et la Banque d'Économie de Québec, établies en vertu des lois fédérales et faisant rapport mensuel au ministère des Finances. Les coopératives de crédit sont d'autres organismes visant à encourager l'épargne en favorisant l'économie régulière.
